Message From the CEO

Dear 4-H Alberta Community,

Last week, we held our Annual General Meeting, a testament to the collective achievements of our regional leadership from across the province. Reflecting on the past four years, it's a source of pride to see the strides we've made since 4-H Alberta's inception. Together, we've tackled numerous challenges, brought clarity to complex issues, and laid a solid foundation for our future. As we wrap up the foundational work, our focus is shifting toward the future, and I'm proud to say that our board remains steadfast in its commitment to our youth.

This spring marks a significant transition for a couple of our major projects. The first one is the volunteer workload assessment, a topic we've previously discussed at regional gatherings. Our third-party consultant has diligently worked through survey feedback, focus groups, and community discussions, and has now completed recommendations for us to consider. While volunteer fatigue is a prevalent issue in many organizations, our dedicated community's commitment to our youth assures me that we'll find a way forward.

We're also concluding the final phase of the first year of our 'Intro to 4-H Pilot Project this spring. It's been a source of hope and excitement to welcome so many newcomers to 4-H Alberta and to hear their positive feedback, mirroring the experiences of our full members. We're thrilled to share the lessons learned from this pilot with the broader community, making club offerings more accessible and enjoyable for all. In just one year, two individuals have successfully offered seven clubs, providing valuable insights for our community.

As we wrap up another successful club year, I hope everyone enjoys their achievement days in June. With an array of shows and summer camps, 4-H Alberta has a lot to offer you over the summer.

Thank you for your continued support and dedication to 4-H Alberta.

Best regards,

Kurt Kinnear CEO, 4-H Alberta

Alberta Beef Producers

As an organisation they support initiatives that improve the sustainability of their practices. Not only is this beneficial to the Alberta Beef Producers image with consumers and government, but it also ensures that they pass on healthier land and communities to the next generation, something that is also integral to 4-H Alberta.

To this end, Alberta Beef Producers has been an active participant in finding a permanent solution to agricultural plastic waste since 2015. They were one of the founding members of the Agricultural Plastics Recycling Group (2016) and they are the program administrator of the provincial RecycleIt! Pilot program for twine and grain bags, which has been operating since 2019. One of the goals of the pilot is to enhance awareness and experience with recycling agricultural plastics, particularly with twine.

Involvement with agricultural plastic recycling would meet all four the 4-H pillars, Community Engagement and Communication, Science and Technology, The Environment & Healthy Living, and Sustainable Agriculture. Knowing how closely 4-H Alberta Beef Clubs are integrated into our rural communities; ABP would encourage and support any involvement of 4 H Alberta members towards increasing awareness and use of twine recycling that is available here in Alberta.

For more information, please reach out to your local Alberta Beef Producers contact.
